Questions 1-5

Read the passage below carefully. Then answer the questions that follow.

Bananas are rich in potassium, vitamins A, B6 and C. One banana contains about 90 calories and is 99.5% fat free. Bananas can be found almost anywhere in Malaysia. They are cheap here but in the United Kingdom, it costs almost one pound sterling or about RM5.80 to buy a bunch of bananas there.

Sometimes, the banana tree is called the tree of paradise and its fruit is known as the fruit of a wise man. It is usually eaten ripe and uncooked but it can also be consumed in many other ways. It tastes delicious when fried in batter. This golden crispy local delicacy is popular among Malaysians and is known as pisang goreng.

Bananas can be used in cakes. Banana cakes are popular in Malaysia. Needless to say banana ice cream for dessert will make a simple meal a little more special. However the ripe fruit gets spoilt very fast in our hot climate. Its skin will turn dark, and its flesh will become softer. To overcome this problem, we have to keep them in the refrigerator.

Raman: Kadir, look, someone left an envelope behind.

Kadir: It's a thick envelope. I wonder who is so careless as to leave it behind.

Raman: Open it. Let's see who it belongs to.

Kadir: No! I am not going to open it. People may accuse me of trying to steal its contents.

Raman: Don't be so naive, Kadir. We just want to check if there is any name or address written inside it. Then we can return it to its owner. I am sure she's looking high and low for it now.

Kadir: Okay, I'll open it. There are many documents and letters. Look, it's written here Miss Habsah, 2333, Jalan Bunga Raya, Taman Megah, Cheras.
